IDENTITY

Logo Variations

Three expressions of the Crackd.live identity — each suited for a different context.

CRACKD.live

CRACK THE PUZZLE. BEAT THE WORLD.

Variation 1 — Wordmark

Sharp sans-serif with crack effect on "A". Use on dark backgrounds for headers, splash screens, and OG images.

Dark bg only | Horizontal

Crackd .live

Variation 2 — Icon + Wordmark

Cracked-grid tile + wordmark. Ideal for navigation bars, product UI, and app store listings.

Versatile | Horizontal

CRACKD.LIVE

Variation 3 — Abstract Mark ★ Preferred

Hex lightning bolt — works as favicon, app icon, social avatar, and standalone brand mark at any scale.

All contexts | Square / circle

⚠️ Usage rules: Never stretch, recolor, or add drop shadows to the logo. Never place on a light background without an approved dark panel. Minimum size: 24px height for digital, 8mm for print.

Inter — All UI text: navigation, body copy, headings, labels, buttons. Variable font — use 400 for body, 600 for labels, 700–800 for subheads, 900 for hero text.

JetBrains Mono — Game tiles, timers, counters, hex color codes, and any numerical game data. Tabular figures ensure aligned columns in leaderboards.

Never use serif fonts, system fonts, or any font outside this set. No italic except for brand tagline contexts. Minimum 12px body text on all surfaces.

PHILOSOPHY

Design Principles

Every decision traces back to one of these four pillars.

Sharp & Fast

Every interaction is instant. No loading spinners where they can be avoided. Transitions are under 200ms. The UI should feel like it responds before you finish the thought. Puzzle feedback is immediate and visceral — tiles flip, colors land, confetti bursts.

Precision

Every pixel earns its place. Dense, not cluttered. Minimal, not empty. We use spacing intentionally — tighter in game screens (focus mode), looser in lobby and profile (exploration mode). Borders and dividers are a last resort; use negative space to separate first.

Intelligent

The UI reveals information progressively. Experts feel powerful, newcomers feel guided. Difficulty badges are visible but never intrusive. Statistics are dense but readable. We trust the player — don't over-explain, don't hand-hold. Complexity earns respect.

Addictive

Streaks, XP, and leaderboards create a compulsion loop that brings players back daily. The amber glow on a 94-day streak isn't accidental — it's designed to feel like an achievement worth protecting. Every micro-interaction reinforces the dopamine loop.
